

Performance Commentary

Global equity markets started 2021 on the front foot as hopes for vaccine rollout and an encouraging start to the reporting season supported investor optimism and Emerging Markets in particular. However, we witnessed rising volatility towards the end of the month as increasingly speculative behaviour took hold in the US market. SKAGEN Kon-Tiki performed in line with the market as our larger holdings continued to deliver operationally. LG Electronics announced a strong set of 2020 results and confirmed that it is considering strategic options for its loss-making mobile phone business. Naspers benefited from the strong share price development of its largest investment, Tencent, while UPL continued its recovery from last year's sell-off on the back of negative tax and governance headlines. The largest detractors were predominantly our natural resource holdings, which came under pressure from market volatility. In addition, Ping An Insurance suffered from reduced new business opportunities in 2020. We expect an improvement in 2021. We made a number of portfolio changes during the month with the most notable additions being China Mobile and Brazilian pulp producer Suzano. We exited a number of holdings including Micron, Lundin Mining and Nexteer as they reached our target price. Our portfolio now consists of 48 holdings trading on 10x 2021 P/E and 1.1x P/B which is appreciably lower than the EM index at 14x and 2.2x respectively.

The fund selects low-priced, high-quality companies, mainly in emerging economies.

The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return.

The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
