

Performance Commentary

It was another good month for SKAGEN m2 with strong performance despite the increase in emerging market volatility. Geopolitical tensions including renewed trade war threats resulted in strong currency movements. The European, US and Scandinavian real estate sectors continue to perform well driven by solid reports and macro fundamentals. The best contributor in August was the German residential rental operator Deutsche Wohnen after delivering stellar numbers and announcing the further acquisition of a nursing home portfolio. Aroundtown and CA Immobilien, both of which are present in the commercial real estate segment in Central Europe, also performed well. Both companies announced half-year reports with solid rental and capital value growth numbers. The worst performer once again was Argentinian IRSA, despite ending the month on a rally. The poor performance is not company specific, rather it is due to the headwinds faced by the local economy, the volatility in emerging markets and the strong USD. The Brazilian homebuilder MRV was another negative contributor for the same reasons. The portfolio is currently trading at a large discount to substance in some parts and at par in others, but in general with solid rental and capital growth especially in the European names.

The fund gives access to a normally inaccessible global real estate market. The fund selects low-priced, high-quality real estate companies from around the world.

The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return.

The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
